"Welcome!" - an oft repeated word during these past few days for the Class of 1967. Since the moment of your arrival on campus Wednesday when a member of the Crown and Sword Honorary Society extended his hand, all 300 of you have probably heard that word dozens of times. And you'll be hearing it many more times in the days to come as you meet returning upperclassmen and get to know your professors and classmates.

This chorus of welcomes is more than just a gesture of friendliness here - it is a symbol of something which we feel is uniquely indigenous to St. Michael's College. A "welcome" here is an invitation, an invitation to "join us". And it is a sincere invitation.

To "join us" means to become a Michaelman, in every sense of the word; to share in our experiences, our work, and our fun; to meet and learn from students who have come here from a dozen states and as many foreign nations; to take part in any or all of the various activities and projects of the score of clubs and organizations on campus.

To "join us" means all of that - and much more as you will learn in the weeks to come.

For most of you, your four years at St. Michael's will be a major factor in your growth both as a student and, more importantly, as a man. You will find here many opportunities for and aids to that growth: your classes, friendships, contacts, and experiences.

At St. Michael's you will find outlets for your talents and interests in one or several of the clubs and organizations on campus, You will find numerous lectures, concerts, art exhibits, plays and other such extracurricular opportunities for learning both on campus and in the Burlington area.

At St. Michael's you will have a unique opportunity to gain an insight into the peoples of other lands through your contacts with the hundreds of foreign students who come here every year to enter the English for Foreign Students program.

Of course, there is much more to life here than what we have outlined above, but space does not permit a longer listing.

We hope that each one of you will avail himself of every opportunity offered here for this growing process. For those who do, four years here will be not just more schooling - they will be an education.

The Campus; A Changing Scene As SMC Grows Up

BY M. WICK BURNS
Staff Reporter

Building new buildings and renovating old ones has become somewhat of a "tradition" at St. Michael's and the progress in this department shows no sign of slackening.

It began in 1904 with the construction of the institution's first building, Old Hall, renamed last year as Founders Hall. Jemery Hall, formerly known as College Hall, was the next to be completed.

From then until the 1950's, most of the structures added to the campus were of the temporary variety, known affectionately as "the barracks". Most of these have since been either remodeled or dismantled. Cheray Science Hall, Ryan and Alumni Halls and the athletic field all were added in that decade.

The early 1960's have seen the dormitory quadrangle completed, the addition of Lyons and Joyce Halls. Alliot Hall, which houses student activities, publications, the dining hall, the bookstore, and the snackbar, was opened in January, 1961.

In the summer of 1962, Founders Hall was completely renovated and most of the old "barracks" were replaced with open lawns. This past summer, a fresh coat of paint brightened the interior of Alumni Hall and Nicolle Hall, referred to by some as the "Dupont Hilton", was dedicated and several priests and brothers moved to their new quarters therein.

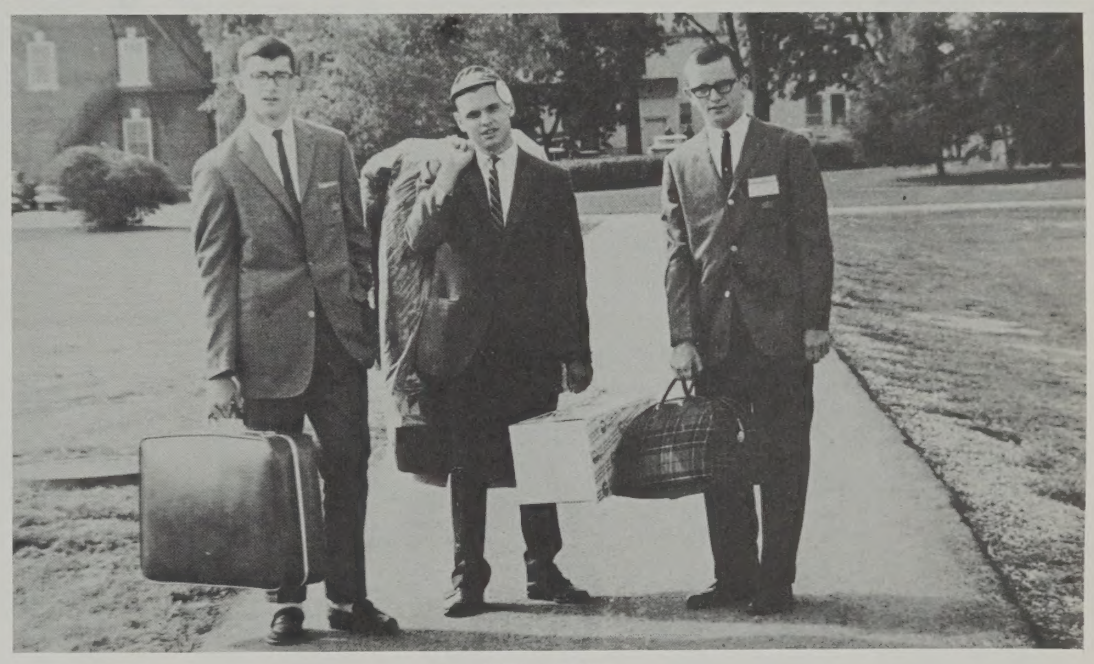
A year ago, the college obtained the use of three spacious apartment buildings located at the abandoned Fort Ethan Allen which lies adjacent to the campus and during the past summer permission to use the fort's gymnasium was also given by the federal government.

Resulting have been improved facilities for married students and faculty apartments and intramural sporting activities.

What's next? A million dollar fund drive to add a library and chapel to the campus has produced about three-quarters of that sum and indications are that the class of 1965 may be the first to have its commencement ceremonies held amidst the new surroundings. The library will be completed next, probably by 1966.

And More To Come

An early artist's conception of the St. Michael's campus circa 1970. At upper left is the proposed chapel, next on the building schedule, which will be built on the grounds near Alliot Hall. In foreground is Founders Hall and to its left is the proposed library building. Further up the line is Jemery Hall, a proposed classroom building and a field house.



WELCOME

Sports Dept. Provides Varied Athletic Events

by Robert C. Lilly

A well-rounded athletic program at St. Michael's College keeps most of the 1000 students active in intramural sports and the entire student body engrossed in cheering their classmates on to victory in intercollegiate competition.

On the Hilltop there is varsity rifle, bowling, baseball, golf, soccer, skiing, and basketball. Basketball is the big sport at SMC and another successful season is hoped for this year. Last year the basketball squad posted a 13-5 record in NCAA competition, beating powerful New England foes like St. Anselm's, Stonehill, and Adelphi. They broke the school scoring record when they overpowered Merrimack College, 109-77.

They finished out the season by copping their eighth straight Vermont title.

The varsity soccer team is on campus already, getting in shape for their first game on September 28. Last year, in their first season in the New England Intercollegiate Soccer League, they broke even with a 5-5 record. In Vermont, we ended up 4-1.

St. Michael's also boasts the only four-event ski team for a Catholic college in the country.

With a ski jump on campus and access to the Stowe Mountain Ski Area, SMC was host to the EISA class B championship meet last year.

Varsity bowling and rifle also enjoyed successful seasons. St. Michael's finished second in the Northeast Division of the National Intercollegiate Bowling Association and the rifle team posted a 4-6 record in New England competition. The baseball team finished out with a 3-5 record.

Interclass sports enjoy a wide following of faithful participants and rooters. Within a few weeks the touch football season will begin, followed by basketball, ice-hockey, ping-pong, pool, softball and possibly tennis.

Behind the scenes in all this activity is the athletic staff. George "Doc" Jacobs, head coach, and his assistant, Mr. Edward Markey, freshman and varsity baseball coach, keep things lively for anyone who has any kind of an interest in sports. Also on the staff is Dr. Armando Citerella, varsity soccer coach.

Another note of interest on the sports scene is the acquisition of the gym at Fort Ethan Allen. Intramural games will be played there this year. A possibility exists that home games might be played there in the future.
